(BUWCRIC)

Başkent University, Woman – Child Health and Family Planning, Research and Implementation Center (BUWCRIC) is a multi-disciplinary center which was established in Başkent University, Ankara, Turkey.

WHEN WAS THE CENTER ESTABLISHED?

BUWCRIC was established in 2001 at Başkent University.

OUR VISION

We believe that the prevention, promotion and strengthening of woman – child health will be realized by the improvement of woman's status within the society and by the implementation of "gender equality and equity" in every stage and period of life.

OUR MISSION

In collaboration with related departments of the university and national / international institutions;

* To develop social sensitivity about women's issues including the physical, mental and reproductive health in every period of life and elimination of gender discrimination,

* To create a public opinion on healthy physical, mental, social development of children from birth including the adolescent period and health care issues appropriate to the circumstances of Turkey.

* To follow up and disseminate information on the results of national and international researches on women's and children's issues,

* To carry out national researches on the issues in the field of major interest of the center and especially the needs of Turkey.

* To prepare and carry out multicentral and multinational projects.

* To support the nationwide dissemination of the research results and recommendations,

* To set a good example for the nationwide services by developing counselling and clinical service model on reproductive health and family planning (RH/FP).

* To increase the awareness of young people on the issues related to woman and child health and family planning, promoting gender equality by providing information to high school and university students and make them to participate the activities related to the sexual and reproductive health issues for young people.

OUR ACTIONS

With the purpose to inform and increase the public awareness in accordance with our vision and mission, our center will carry out several activities related to the issues on woman and child health, family planning like;

* Development and distribution of publications, establishment of a library and documentation unit. Increase the awareness and the sensitivity of the students and the society by educational activities, like lectures, seminars and meetings,

* Development of national and international seminars, conferences, congresses, symposia and courses on gender and health issues,

* Development of a communication network between national and international organizations; to provide consultancy, support and contribute the activities of organisations and institutions relevant to the interests of the center.
